William Routt, Colored, Killed Last Night Just Below the City.

About 6 o'clock this morning the lifeless body of William Routt was found alongside of the C. and O. tracks near the residence of Mr. A. J. McDougale, just West of the city.

There was a fearful gash in the forehead and the left arm was ground to a pulp, indicating that he had been struck by a train and that the wheels had passed over the arm.

Just when or how the casualty occurred is not known.

Deceased was about twenty-three years of age, a son of Alex. Routt, the well-known stonemason, and was a young man of good habits.

The remains were brought to this city this morning, viewed by Coroner Wood, and turned over to his father.

MISSTATEMENT CORRECTED. Courier-Journal Insists on Falsely Representing Matters.

The following communication from Senator William H. Cox of this city will explain itself:

Editor of the Public Ledger—Dear Sir: In Saturday's edition of The Bulletin-September 23d—there appeared an article copied from The Courier-Journal in which it is made to appear that I was the author of the amendment striking out the words "ministerial duties only" in the proposed fair election bill.

The information was sent out from Frankfort for the purpose of covering up the work of the Committee of the Whole, and exonerating it of bad faith and change in the agreement with me as to what should be in the proposed bill.

The circumstances were these: After the completion of the bill by the sub-committee of three we were called together in Committee of the Whole, composed of eleven members. After a reading of the bill, Senator Coleman, a Democrat, moved to strike out the words "ministerial duties only" where they appeared in the County and State Boards. This, of course, provoked a discussion, and I stated to the Committee that I was opposed to such a motion, for the reason that I had consented to a compromise bill with the understanding that these words and this feature should be in the bill. Several substitutes were offered, one by Senator Kirk, a Republican, one by Senator Utley, a Democrat, and I read one prepared by Senator Burman, who was sitting near me, as follows:

"The duties of the Board shall be ministerial only, and confined to the canvassing, tabulating and counting of the returns made to them by the officers of the different counties, and the issuance of certificates of election to such persons as they may find to have been elected. This to apply to the State Board, and to insert the word precincts instead of counties to make it apply to the County Boards."

Senator Utley then proposed a substitute as follows:

"It shall be the duty of said Board to examine and determine all questions or controverted ballots returned from the various precincts of the county, and to examine, canvass and tabulate the returns from said precincts and issue certificates of election as hereinafter provided."

Senator Kirk proposed a substitute almost identical with Senator Burman's with a slight change as to passing upon questioned precinct ballots. Kirk's substitute was voted down and Senator Utley's was adopted, fixing the duty of County Boards somewhat vaguely, the words "ministerial duties only" remaining in the bill regulating the action of the State Board.

It is easy to see the reason for the change. All fraud in elections begins at the precincts, and with the Sheriffs of Election appointed without regard to recommendation or party preference, and selected at will and at any time, fraud would be committed, returns made to County Boards with duties not clearly defined, accepted or rejected as they may see fit, then passing to the State Board with ministerial duties only the chain would be complete, and an election held in conformity with the direction of the bosses.

THE NEW DEPOT. Handsome Structure of the L. and N. Now Being Occupied.

The one remark which promptly springs out of the mouths of visitors to our city is what a metropolitan air Maysville has, her substantial business houses, beautifully appointed and splendidly kept stores, the activity of her citizens and the all needful improvements which are generally found in cities two, three and four times larger. All this is true, and where you find eyesores along its streets these are but monuments to sloth, which even time will not honor, and when a newer spirit of pride and progress rises even these, few as they are, will give way to modern structures which shall house new merchants or old ones whose business has outgrown present quarters.

So much as an introduction to THE LEDGER's write-up of the commodious, new and very handsome Depot about finished by the contractor and turned over to the L. and N. Railroad Company Saturday night last, henceforth standing as a tablet of worth to the Board of Trade and to be pointed out as an object of pride by every citizen.

The building stands nearly where the old one stood, in the angle made by Third and Bridge streets. Its length is 98 feet, its width 40, and its height 25. The roof is of slate, slanting from a cone running its entire length; a dormer window in the center relieves the great expanse of roof and gives an artistic design which enhances the general effect. From the Southwest corner a tower rises a few feet; from under its projecting cap circular windows appear, thus lighting the attic and preserving the effect of a double-story building. The structure is of brick laid in red mortar upon a foundation of brick with interlocking free stone cappers; there are an office for the agent, a gentlemen's and ladies' waiting-room, a baggage-room, running the length of the building on the South side, while, at an elevation of six feet, the entire North side is one room for the reception and departure of freight, which is presided over by the Ryan brothers, old and valued employees.

The interior is finished in selected yellow pine highly polished and very choice, lighted with gas and electricity; lavatories connect with each waiting-room and fixtures of the newest type ornament windows and doors.

A crane for handling heavy freight will stand conveniently near the West double doors, and is operated from a platform extending a few feet beyond the building and upon an elevation equal to the height of wagons, drays, &c. Upon the North side three great double doors make entrance way into as many freight cars, which the length of the freight room allows to be standing upon the track.

The public is most interested in the passenger side of this Depot. The corner first room is to be the business hive of the local agent, Mr. E. H. Binzel, and his assistants, Charles Collins and Harry Robinson.

The climax of elegance is reached in the two middle rooms which are set apart as waiting apartments for passengers. The one for males is first, and is handsomely finished and comfortably furnished, as is also the room adjoining, the ladies' waiting-room. The baggage-room is the end room East, admirably arranged for the easy handling of baggage, &c.

The building was actually begun June 10th and save for a few delays has been continuously raised and within two weeks of being completed upon contract time. Its cost has been $7,500, and Maysville has today a Depot second to none along the L. and N. route.

Does It Pay to Buy Cheap? A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right but you want something that will relieve and cure the more severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible; if not possible for you, then in either case take the only remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boecher's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest, and cures the patient. Try one bottle. Recommended many years by all druggists in the world. For sale by J. C. Pecor.

Hartford—October 4; three days.

Question Answered. Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for Indigestion or Biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart Failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by J. C. Pecor.

Your Fall Wardrobe Will Soon Interest You!
